At the end of each academic year, a male and female student-athlete are recognized as winners of the Red Brown Cup, presented to West Virginia University's most outstanding all-around student-athletes. The Red Brown Cup encompasses the student-athlete's athletic, academic and civic achievement.

The award is in memory of Robert "Red" Brown, who served as WVU's 13th men's basketball coach from 1950-54 before becoming WVU's fourth Athletic Director in 1954. Brown's athletic career spanned nearly 50 years.

The head coach from each sport nominates a student-athlete to the Athletic Council. The winners are announced each May.
